

ILPCTAJE SUMMER WORKSHOP

Since 1980, ILPC Summer Workshops have set the standard for excellence by preparing journalism students for the upcoming school year. This year, ILPC has partnered with TAJE to bring that excellence to Texas State University in San Marcos.

For three days, the nation's finest journalism instructors will push your students in intensive learning environments. Students spend three days immersed in hands-on journalism in their selected track. These instructors are dedicated to one goal: helping students create the best stories in the nation.

Tentative classes offered:

- UIL Journalism Prep
- Journalism Bootcamp
- Newspaper Essentials
- Editorial Leadership
- Advanced Writing
- Design and Production
- Video Storytelling
- Yearbook Essentials
- Theme Concept and Development
- Beginning Photojournalism
- Advanced Photojournalism
- Advising School Publications

Tuition, room and board is $300 per person, based on double-occupancy room. Registration is open and closes May 15. Space will be limited.

Contact ILPC Director Alyssa Boehringer at aboehringer@uiltexas.org with any workshop questions and TAJE Director Cindy Todd at director@taje.org with any billing questions.

Registration now open!

